

Question 17 (3 marks)

Explain why alkanes and their corresponding alkenes have similar physical properties, but very different chemical properties.

3

alkanes and alkenes have similar chemical make up, and their corresponding species have same number of carbon atoms. Therefore mass is similar, boil and melting temperatures are similar, but the number of Hydrogen atoms is different therefore the chemical properties are different