

Mark was at the beach with his friends Sam, Luke that was their usual hangout after school. It was their last week in year six and everybody was looking forward to the last day. Mark and his friends had planned a big muck-up day and couldn't wait to get pay back at ~~the~~ principal Ford. It was 5pm and time to be getting home plus a storm was coming in. As the sand was whipping against ~~his~~ his face ~~in~~ he saw Gemma, hartely the hottest girl in the school. "Hi" she said mark had started to notice Gemma more and more over the last 3 months "what are you doing on Friday night?" "Nothing" mark said ~~was~~ "Want to go to the movies" "Yeah he replied mark couldn't believe it he's got a date with hottest girl in the school. "See ya at 7" she said mark raced in the door to call ~~about~~ luke about this achievement when he was brought to a halt. It was his father and he wasn't happy. "Did you clean your room like i told you" no mark replied, "your grounded" "but dad" mark argued "mum" "what your father says goes" "But I've got a date with gemma hartely" "I don't care" mark's father replied. A week had gone by and it was Friday. Mark was going out no matter what. It took him 1 hr to get ready. He never usually cared about what looked like until now. Mark escaped out the window to meet Gemma. 1 hr later his mum and dad came up to his to discover it was empty. "where is his" "his gone out with girl," we can't stop him the father said "his and adolescent now" "Now it's their turn to choose".