

Start here.

Question 30 - Improving Performance

A (i). one benefit of drug testing is that you know if or if not that drug is going to work & how it can effect each individual & the way they play that sport. one ~~Bad~~ bad thing about drug testing is that it could have a really bad effect on ones body & the way it works & thinks being good or bad.

A (ii) Performance enhancing drugs are considered unethical ~~because~~ because it may give that person an unfair advantage against everyone else & their performance is improved from drugs. Or the drug could have an opposite effect on someone who has never taken that drug before it may work in the opposite way & make there performance worse then normal. A lot of athletes use performance enhancing drugs for a lot of reasons eg if they want there performance to peak for a particular game eg Grand final or ~~sem~~ semi final they will take the drug ~~st~~ so they are at there personal best but taking the ~~to~~ drug & not knowing what the outcome might be good or bad.

Additional writing space on back page.