

Equality and Difference

Dominant groups are usually dominant people. Social class in society can rank you and placement of where you fit. Jobs can tell where you stand, what can you do or just what your ethnic background is.

Many people are at the same level when it comes to jobs. It is possible to move up to an upper class, and could give you power. For the upper, higher class, it is known that they have power over the lower class. More important than love people. Or is it the money? People who lack of money have therefore no power? Because of their ethnicity, they can't afford good jobs? Through people, it can be up to the individual in doing well for him/herself. As I know, upper class people do have privilege.

over lower or middle class.

As to Karl Marx, he says that there are 2 ways people are classified. The Ruling Class and Ruled Class. Ruling class is when people are seated higher level have authority over others. The Ruled class, are down the chain, when they are told of what to do and how they live life. Through separations of groups, many who are affected may remain lower or ruled class. Some say because of their background! One negative view of that it is the language they must surpass. Know how to speak english. If they cannot, they are classified as lower class because it will be harder for them to get a job.

As to being or wanting to be successful, it is up to individual. It is not because of their ethnicity or social class, but also access to their needs. Some may have not have the time. As I see it, the more money you have, the more chances of you succeeding in wanting what you want. Now this is lead to inequality. Some time it cannot be helped of the position they are in.

In society, the bigger or wealthier you are, chances of you succeeding is good, as to lower class, it cannot be helped as there could be shortages of their time. It is the hard times that keep the lower class, there. Government have tried to balance but some can move up another level.

But mostly on higher class, they do have privileges over lower class. They are well respected, clean or tidy in clothing, and also have ways of speaking.

Their form of language and body gestures are conformed. Not only that, but of to only conform with same status of people. They are known for their wealth and persuasive ways.

Socialisation form them is very formal, throwing parties on big mansions and known to look down at lower.

Through their status, and power, one can only think of names of power can be brought up. As known, they are sophisticated and have a micro group in society. Everything to them must be more than standard. Their taste for food are different to middle and lower.

To my conclusion, the wealth you are, more power and respect. You are rated through your status and job, and better chance of succeeding in life.
