

Start here.

~~The popular culture of Rock'n'Roll~~

To be a popular culture it needs to have these four things

1. be a commercial product,
2. have to had been a local, national and global level,
3. needs to be able to be available to everyone,
- 4.

and Rock'n'Roll meets these four things. Implications of continued ~~globalisation~~ globalisation in the future consumption of Rock'n'Roll will make music produces become a lot less successful or even have no business left, from alot of people downloading music ~~on~~ (Rock'n'Roll) off the internet and putting there music on either there own CD's or Ipod's this will continue to make implications for record produces. Proof ~~of this~~ of this is there is already a decrease of profit for music produces in Australia around 2.7%

In the last year and ~~years~~ if it continues to drop from the implications of globalisation this will deferaly ruin the future of this popular culture Rock'n'Roll.

Additional writing space on back page.