Question Part

Christian environmental ethics specifically focuses on the 10 commandments in the bible, and what Jesus done and accomplished while he was alive.

The 10 commandments are a set of rules and guidelines set by God for adherants to follow in order to go to heaven after their death.

Two Examples of ethical teachings are

- No Sex before marriage (adultery)
- love thy Neighbour.

Question Part

Baptism is an important part of Christian Adherent lives as it is the first stage one would go through to becoming Christian. Baptism usually occurs at a very young age and it is up to the parents to decide if their children do so or not. Baptism is significant because it marks a major religious milestone in an adherent's life and allows them to move onto the next stage of confirmation and communion in later years. Baptism keeps adherents comforted by the idea that there are more and more followers of the religion each time someone is baptised.

Question Part

Loving and caring for the world that God made for you is an important ethical teaching demonstrated by Christian adherents which also signifies their love and devotion to God.

Another important ethical teaching in the life of Adherents is no-sex before marriage. Orthodox Christians strongly believe in this ethical teaching although the idea is not strongly followed throughout the whole religion.
