

Question 9

"Evaluate the view that art reflects the social values of a particular time and place."

Social values are expressed in many artworks of which depict, or express, or show the influence / or impact they have made to an artist or general public around them. Social values today have helped many artists such as Cindy Sherman, Andy Warhol, and Masimiro produce artworks of interpretations of ~~social~~ images and history that shape society, ~~and~~ even Renaissance artworks can show the audience the importance of religion in ^{around} 15th Century Europe (give or take a few years) - thus reflecting idols ~~that~~ and events that were of great importance to the church and the people. The styles of Japanese arts etc. show the restrictions of their society, which every painting almost up until the 19th Century ~~was~~ ~~is~~ in the same style and practice, thus reflecting social and cultural ties of Japanese artists. Andy Warhol shows in his paintings images of which have influenced society, and shaped social extremes etc. Influential images of Warhol's Art-making era.

