

Qn4

a) Every hope of the Greeks and ~~confidence~~ trust of beginning the war with the help of Pallas Athena he stood always. From that which impious Tydaeus but for the creator Ulixes and of his wickedness he approached to move with the fateful Palladium in the sacred temple to the highest citadel with the slaughter ~~of~~ the guards, you corrupted the sacred image and dared to touch the maiden ~~heads~~ fillets of the goddess with your bloody hands, ...

b) From all sides horror in your mind, at the same time that silence terrifies you. From where I look back at my home, ^{if only,} if only she had gone there: The Greeks overthrew and were holding with everyone in a house. Immediately the devouring fire is rolling on the wind to the highest summit, the flames tower above, the sweat ~~flow~~ ~~flows~~ ^{exposes} to the breezes. I proceed and ~~to~~ retrace the palace of Pham and the citadel, and now the chosen guards Phoenix and dread Ulixes were protecting the empty porticos in the sanctuary of Juno. Here from all sides the sacred ^{things} ~~with~~ ⁱⁿ fires ~~in~~ ⁱⁿ Troy were ~~rescued~~ from the sanctuary, and the minds of the gods and the crates of solidged, and the captured vestments are heaped up. Boys ~~so~~ and mothers stand around in a long line.
