a1). This was the truth: if the pirate chief had been executed on the same day, you would not have gotten your bribe; if he had died or fled, it would not have been difficult to put in the place of the substitute, another man. You had said that you ~~said that the~~ wanted to keep the pirate chief alive, ~~pirate chief was kept alive by you, and~~ ~~nevertheless you kept this fear of the~~ ~~charge placed against you.~~

nevertheless you had already expressed that you were fearful of the charge brought against you.

b. The Gavius, whom you suddenly say was a spy for the runaway slaves, ~~and~~ I will <sup>show that he was</sup> ~~thrown into~~ ~~thrown~~ thrown by you into the stone quarries of Syracuse, and I will not only show this by the records of the Syracusians above, lest you are able to say to me, that I picked and chose the records ~~to be Gavius~~, of Gavius ~~to be some~~ from some other man, so that I am able to say that which I want to, but I will give the testimony of men whom will say that they saw you throw this man into the stone quarries of Syracuse.
